

An Update

UseMyData

You said that....

- You want data used for research
- Data must be used safely, securely, legally
- But the overall process was too complicated
- And it felt very disjointed

We have....

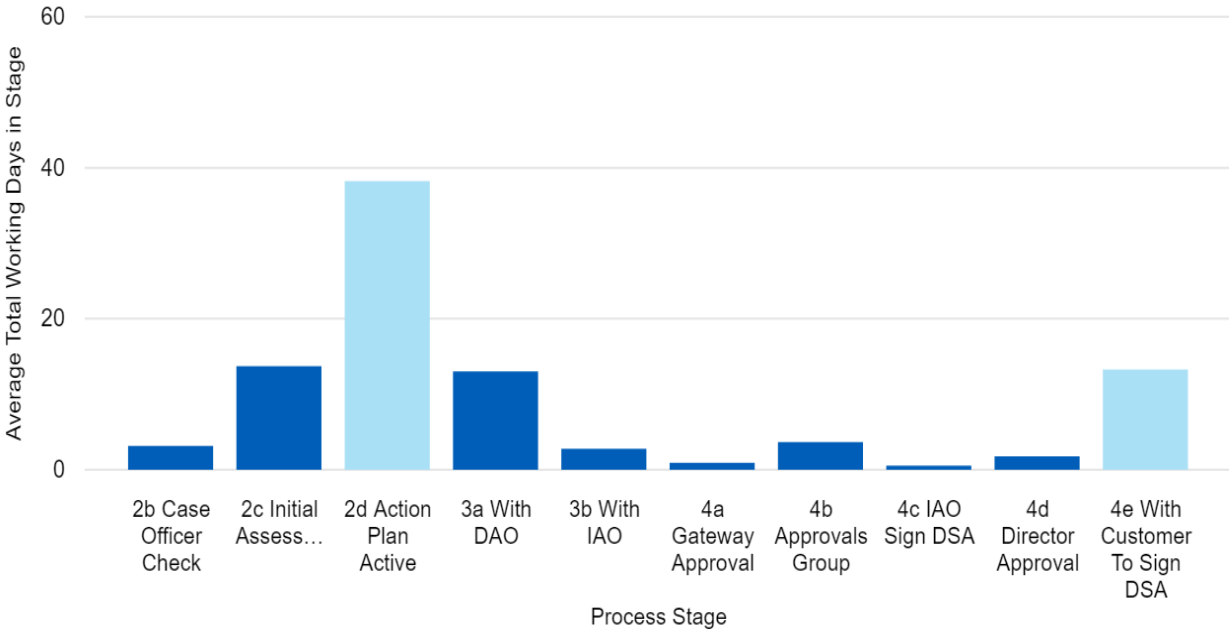

- Published “standards” to help researchers understand what is needed for each part of an application
- Shared these “standards” with other data controllers
- Published precedents that have a faster route to using data (78% of applications to NHS Digital now use these)
- Established a secure location for researchers to access data so less data needs to be moved outside of NHS Digital
- Published details on how data has been used: <https://digital.nhs.uk/data-and-information/data-insights-and-statistics/dars-clinical-review>

We are

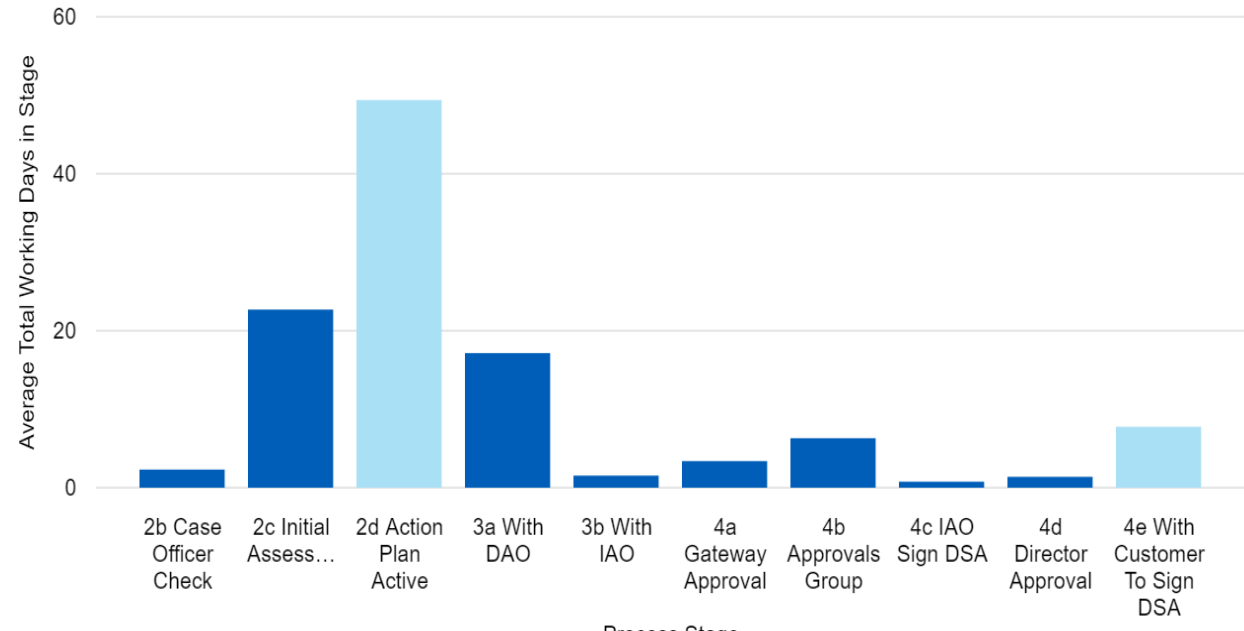

- Working in partnership with funders to deliver new services
- Working with researchers to:
 - Make survey data more available
 - Enable data to be shared by researchers
- Delivering a major change programme through first 6 months of 2020 to make more data available, faster

Working transparently, with appropriate controls and governance
